

RWE Gas Slovensko started with gas sale for households

The company RWE Gas Slovensko introduced the most advantageous offer for gas in the segment households today, when it presented attractive cost lowering for families in the area of heating, water heating and cooking. All households in the area of Slovakia can get a discount up to 12% from the price for gas supply.

“After advantageous offer for business customers we have launched the Blue gas for households,” describes Miroslav Kulla, the managing director this new product.

The Blue gas- the most advantageous product in the market

The blue gas means not only a discount up to 12% for Slovak households, but also stability and reliability. It has a support of strong energy company RWE Group and secures quality of supplied gas. “Moreover it will adjust to the requirements of our customers,” stresses Mr. Kulla. They can choose type of product and how long they will use it. The aim of the Blue gas is that each household has a possibility to choose the most advantageous offer in the market.

It is easy to get the Blue gas

Switching to RWE Gas Slovensko will be free of charge and simple for customers. “We will handle all administrative acts for customer, we just need to sign a contract and authorization” explains Mr. Kulla. Customers do not need to have a new connection or to solve technical changes.
